

GIFTING SEASON

71 Gifts That Give Good Vibes

 71 Slides

Make this holiday all about spreading positivity to your friends, family, and Mother Nature

By Nora Taylor, Zoë Sessums, and Sydney Wasserman

Photography by Artistic Direction by Stephanie Jones

November 26, 2019

Day in and day out, we're on the hunt for decor and furniture designs that brilliantly combine form and function. So, when the weather cools down and the string lights come out, it's almost as if our brains start short-circuiting. So. Many. Cool. Things. To. Give. In an attempt to help us focus on the cheer and spend a little less time organizing the hundreds of products we could recommend you buy for your friends and family, we decided to narrow our scope to positive feelings—ergo the Good Vibes Gift Guide. Here, we've got a selection of items, from soaps to workout benches to piñatas, all with a good story (think ethical production, sustainable materials, donations to charities, self-care). With a range of styles and prices—we've got you covered with gifts that are fun, multifunctional, or absolutely beautiful—here are the 71 things to put in your cart. Light the fir-scented candle and get shopping.

All products featured on Architectural Digest are independently selected by our editors. However, when you buy something through our retail links, we may earn an affiliate commission.

Photo by Fredrika Stjerne for Shou Sugi Ban House

51/71

Though just a few hours outside the city, the new Shou Sugi Ban House spa and retreat in the Hamptons seems like a world away. Immersed in wabi-sabi design aesthetics with a Scandinavian sensibility, the high-design wellness destination offers one-day experiences and overnight retreats to reset body and mind. Treat yourself and one lucky person to a day of zen. SHOP NOW: Signature Experience Full-Day Retreat by Shou Sugi Ban House, from $550, shousugibanhouse.com